ERRATA AND ADDENDA TO CONCISE HOUSEHOLD ENCYCLOPEDIA VOLUMES 1 AND 2

ARTIFICIAL SILK. V1, page 79. Beginning paragraph 5, read Some kinds of artificial silk.....

BEZIQUE. V1, page 175. The one who draws the lower card deals.

BILLIARDS. V1, page 183. Composition, not ivory, balls are now used in all important matches.

BRAKES. V1, page 247. Second column, 17 lines from bottom. Hub brakes for cycles are operated by levers on the handlebar and not only by back-peddalling. They employ friction linings and are supplied for both front and back wheels.

BREAD. V1, page 255. Second column, line 6: For “pint of water” read “½ pint”.

BUILDING. V 1, page 288. First column, Terms of Contract, line 25. For “exceeds £500” read “does not exceed £500.”

BUNG. V1, page 293. Second column. There is a method used by coopers to remove tightly fitted bungs. After removing the metal strap usually nailed across the bung, the barrel is sharply struck with a crowbar, first at one side, then at the other. If this is continued for a minute or so, the bung automatically works out of the hole.

CAMPHORATED OIL. V1, page 334. First column, line 2. For “formerly was official” substitute “is official”. Lines 5 and 6. For “The official liniment now contains” substitute “Another official liniment contains also.”

CEMENT. V1, page 385. Second column. Like certain other materials, cement can be tinted.

CONCRETE. V1. Page 510. First column. PARTITION SLABS. Mixture for partition slabs, delete “or granite.”

DIFFERENTIAL GEAR. V1, page 644. First column, line 22. Delete “reverse the direction-remaining stationary” and read “enable the crown wheel to drive the lifted wheel in the same direction through the pinions G and the axle-shaft bevel pinion.”

EMERALD. V1, page 755. Second column. There is no synthetic emerald.

FOOT. V1, page 869. First column, line 4. For “square” read “cubic.”

HAWKER. V1, page 1057. Second column. A hawker’s licence costs £ 2 a year, and a pedlar’s certificate 5s.

INSURANCE, UNEMPLOYMENT. V1. page 1136. First column. The rate of benefit for young men (18 to 21) in agriculture is 12s., not 10s. 6d. a week. The contribution rates for agriculture came into force on July 4, 1938. Figures are liable to alteration with cost of living, etc.

LEMON CAKE. V1, page 1277, line 2. Add “2 eggs.”

NET BALL. V2, page 329. The game is now started by one centre passing the ball, not bouncing it in the centre of the field.

RABBIT. V2, page 816, line 5 from bottom. For “Rhenish” read “Flemish.”

RABBIT WOOL. V2, page 823. Does not need any brushing.

RAISIN WINE. V2, page 845. Add at beginning of article, "To make this allow equal quantities of fruit and sugar."

TILE. V2, page 1492, fig. 6, caption. For "Swept" read "laced."

V2, page 1493, line 4. For "sweeping" read "lacing."
